Our Beginnings

How and why we started GBM

When Paul Brander retired for the 4th time last year he was approached by many of his former associates to help them grow their business with sales and marketing. The focus is primarily on environmental and the transportation industries. The success in the past few months has been excellent and the horizon looks even brighter.

Our Commitment

GBM is committed to supply the highest quality of service to our service suppliers and our clients to ensure that the end user is given what they want, when they want and on budget.

My Goal

My goal is to build an environmental company through relationships with prequalified contractors that as a group can perform most all of the functions in a full environmental project. The selection was designed through my 50 year experience in this industry and better still knowing who not to select. This experience can be passed on to you through Georgian Bluffs Marketing. GBM acts as a guide to assist with an environmental project with your team and giving direction as to the best choice. The invoice and service agreement is between the customer and my selected contractor but I will oversee the project to make sure that all commitments are realized by you the customer. There is no fee from the end client for GBM's service.
